WELCOME

In 2003, the Middlesex Institute of Theology and Technology (MITT) offered its first curriculum of courses. Six years earlier, the Lord gave Pastor Paul Hylton the vision to establish a school that would serve the towns of the Middlesex County of Connecticut by providing sound biblical training and technical training. Pastor Paul wanted to be able to offer the highest quality of biblical education to Christians aspiring to ministry and those desiring to know more about the Word of God. He also wanted to offer affordable computer training.

Statement of Purpose

Middlesex Institute of Theology and Technology (MITT) was established for the express purpose of training and developing competent Christian leaders, from all walks of life, who are prepared to take the Gospel of Jesus Christ to a changing world.

The principal purpose of MITT is to provide a program of studies based on sound biblical training, a comprehensive understanding of theological principles as established in the Word of God, and applications of such truth to Christian life and service. These studies are offered in two tracks: theological education and spiritual enrichment. Theological education prepares Christians for ministerial service positions through a credit-based curriculum. Spiritual enrichment helps to cultivate a believer's spiritual development and to strengthen and support the local church.

MITT also provides training in computer technology. The courses offered through the technological arm of MITT are designed to increase the student's ability to use the tools of technology to enhance their research, preparation, and presentation of the Gospel. These studies will also serve to train and enrich members of the general community seeking to advance their knowledge of computers and technical skills for personal and professional reasons.
